PACKING MADE PERFECT
Dror Benshetrit, Design's Ultimate Transformer, has a new shape-shifting collection for Tumi that aims to change how we travel.

The PROCESS is compared to other projects you've done?

It was a lot more detailed. I would actually compare it to a movie production. It's a very detailed and layered project, and Dror has a very specific vision for the collection. He's very thorough in his approach, and he wants every detail to be perfect. It's a very collaborative process, and everyone involved has to be very exact in their work.
